Description

An absolutely extraordinary 18th century German carved oak frame, representing the Baroque decorative carving tradition at its most exuberant, ambitious, and breathtakingly accomplished. The monumental rectangular outer form gives way to a sweeping oval inner aperture – a dramatic architectural transition richly adorned with an unbroken cascade of hand-carved fruit, foliage, floral garlands, and abundant botanical detail that swirls around the opening with irresistible Baroque energy and virtuosic technical mastery. At each upper corner, finely carved cherubic putti faces emerge from the composition with serene, watchful expressions – a hallmark of the finest German Baroque decorative carving and a detail of remarkable sculptural delicacy given the scale and intensity of the surrounding ornament.
