Description

This 19th Century English Leather Storage Box is a richly detailed antique piece wrapped in beautifully aged leather with decorative brass studwork and warm patinated hardware throughout. Featuring a sculptural domed lid and hand-applied nailhead motifs, the box carries an authentic timeworn character that adds depth and old-world charm to any space. Both functional and decorative, it works beautifully atop a console, shelf, cocktail table, or library vignette, making it an exceptional accent for English country, European traditional, rustic, or collected interiors.
