Description

This 19th-century French bobbin chair showcases exquisite craftsmanship with its boldly turned spindle frame and hand-carved detailing. The rich, dark oak patina highlights the sculptural quality of the bobbin legs and stretchers, a hallmark of French provincial design from the period.

Newly upholstered in Johnstons of Elgin Astral Herringbone in Hearth, the chair pairs its antique frame with a timeless wool herringbone weave. The subtle pattern and warm tone add depth and sophistication, while brass nailhead trim provides a classic finishing touch.

Blending antique character with tailored elegance, this chair is a versatile accent for a library, study, or living room, offering both durability and refined French style.
