Description

Add rustic utility and historic character to your space with this 19th century French iron billhook, a traditional agricultural tool once used for pruning, cutting, and hedging. Forged from solid iron, it features a curved blade and simple handle form, showcasing the craftsmanship and functionality of the period. The naturally aged patina and signs of wear reflect years of use, enhancing its authenticity and visual appeal. Perfect for wall display or as part of a curated vignette, this French billhook brings texture, history, and timeless Old World charm to any interior.
