Description

Add authentic industrial charm to your space with this 19th century French iron gas lantern, a striking piece finished in a deep green tone that reflects its original use and heritage. Crafted from solid iron, it features a classic form with glass panels and a vented top, designed for both function and durability. The beautifully aged patina and worn paint enhance its character, telling the story of its past life as a source of illumination. Perfect for an entryway, garden, or interior accent, this French lantern brings history, texture, and timeless Old World appeal to any setting.
