Description

This exquisite 19th-century French coiffeuse, signed by the renowned ébéniste Alphonse Tahan, exemplifies the elegance and craftsmanship of the period. The piece features an intricately designed marquetry inlay, combining various woods to create a visually stunning pattern. Its curved legs and delicate detailing reflect the influence of Louis XV and Rococo styles, while the original brass fittings and hardware add a touch of opulence. The coiffeuse includes a lift-top mirror and several compartments, showcasing both beauty and functionality. Tahan's signature ensures its authenticity and underscores its historical and artistic value, making it a cherished addition to any fine furniture collection.

Who was Alphonse Tahan? Tahan was the official master cabinet maker for the French Emperor Napoleon III.
